I am no legal expert, but it seems like letting Microsoft off easy is the lazy way out. They are in a position to do major damage to a healthy marketplace, and their reach extends more every year.

They have acted illegally, and done so for years. That has been proven in court.

The U.S. government is the only body strong enough to create limits for a company as powerful as Microsoft. If it looks the other way just because Microsoft is big enough, and doesn't seem SO harmful, then an injustice has been done.

Please do what is RIGHT.

Sincerely,
